PEACEFULLY AT REST

Last Sad Rites Over Two Noted Divines.

BISHOPS BROOKS AND DWENGER

The Former Takes Place in Boston and the Latter at Fort Wayne, Indiana—Details of the Solemn and Impressive Events at Both Places.

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—With the impressive funeral services of the church in connection with which his life work was done, and accompanied by evidences of public grief such as have not been manifested in this community before for a generation, at least, the remains of the late Bishop Phillips Brooks were yesterday consigned to their last resting place in Mount Auburn cemetery.

At 8 o'clock in the morning the body, encased in a black broadcloth casket, hermetically sealed, accompanied by a guard of honor, was taken from the residence at Clarendon street and borne to Trinity church where it was placed on a catafalque inside the shrouded portals of the church. Above the casket and depending from the ceiling was a tent-like canopy of black broadcloth, and the walls and ceiling were heavily shrouded with the same material.

At the head and foot of the catafalque were placed the colors of the Loyal Legion, of which order the late bishop was an honorary member, while on the foot of the casket lay a simple cross of Easter lilies. The departed bishop lay in his Episcopal robe, his hands folded upon his breast, and appeared as natural and lifelike as though quietly sleeping. A uniformed guard of members of the Loyal Legion kept vigil on either side of the casket, and a double line of policemen was formed from both corner entrances of the vestibule to the side-walks beyond.

When all preparations were completed the doors were opened, and the people whom the great prelate had so loved and for whom he had so labored were allowed to pass by twos into the northwest corner entrance of the vestibule through on either side of the casket and out at the southwest corner entrance, each catching only a farewell glance of the loved features. There was a large gathering in front of the church, but there was no rush and no discourtesy.

During the three hours allotted for the purpose, up to 11 o'clock, a steady procession moved passed the bier. There were stalwart business men of the city, to whom the dead apostle had so often preached at the noon-day meetings in Faneuil hall; students and young men innumerable, whose lives will tell of his teachings for decades to come; delegations from Harvard, where as college preacher some of the deceased's most effective work had been wrought; fellow clergymen and men of letters, to whom the great churchman was both friend and brother, and women by hundreds, many with tear-stained faces, struggling vainly to conceal their grief at the loss of bishop, pastor and friend.

At 11 o'clock, the hour for closing the doors to the public, a line of people extending down the sidewalk to Berkeley street, two blocks away, was pressing forward toward the mecca of that vestibule, and another throng, equally large, surged up to the Clarendon street entrance, where those entitled to admission to the funeral services were received. The body of the church was included all the clergy of the state delegations from Episcopal societies, Governor Russell, a delegation from the legislature, Mayor Matthews, other public officials, President Elliott and the overseers of Harvard college and the Harvard class of '35, of which he was a member, a committee of the Loyal Legion and clergymen of other denominations.

The interior of Trinity was appropriately draped, all the sable trappings and decorations of the grand edifice speaking with a peculiar pathos of the overwhelming loss which had befallen the parish and diocese. The chancel walls and railing pulpit, reading desk and gallery front were heavily draped in black; floral and other appointments decorating the chancel in beautiful relief. At the back of the chancel an arch of laurel, fifteen feet high and ten feet wide, was flanked on either side by two spruce trees about eight feet high.

In front of the arch on a dias rested a tall and beautiful cross of Easter lilies, and at the side the baptismal font was shrouded in laurel and filled with Easter lilies. The chancel railing was wound with laurel and upon it was placed a row of potted spruce trees, tapered so as to form a pyramid. Simplicity characterized every detail, while the general effect was imposing.

BISHOP DWENGER'S FUNERAL.

Obsequies on the Late Bishop of Fort Wayne.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Jan. 27.—At an early hour yesterday morning the solemn tolling of the great bell in the cathedral tower announced the approach of the obsequies about to take place over the remains of the Right Rev. Joseph Dwenger, bishop of this diocese. Since the casket containing the remains were borne to the cathedral Wednesday afternoon they were viewed by several thousand people. The entire cover had been removed from the casket and the body exposed at full length.

The face of the dead prelate looked pleasing and lifelike in expression. He was robed in purple vestments, and upon his head rested the bishop's hat. A golden cross and small metallic crucifix lay upon his breast just above the folded hands. The most decorations consisted of two large white crosses, which were placed at the foot of the casket.

Long before the hour for the beginning of the first ceremony the crowds began to gather. Every seat in the vast structure was taken, and many chairs were placed in the aisles. At the hour of 8:45 all the clergy assembled in the sacristy of the cathedral, and after vesting proceeded to the sanctuary and began the ceremony known as the office of the dead. The bishops wore the white mitres which are always used for ceremonies of this nature. The vestments of the priests were also those used upon such occasions.

Immediately after the conclusion of the office of the dead the pontifical requiem mass was begun. The sermon was delivered by most Rev. Bishop Radamacher, of Nashville, Tenn. At the conclusion of the sermon the ceremony of the absolution was begun. All the bishops officiated in the order of their rank, the last being Archbishop Elder, of Cincinnati.

After the absolution the remains were placed in the vault under the cathedral and the sad rites were at an end.

It is too early to speculate upon his successor as yet. Many names have been advanced for consideration.

THE WANN DISASTER.

Railroad Officials Investigating Into Its Cause—More Deaths.

ALTON, Ill., Jan. 27.—Preparatory to an official investigation of the circumstances of the disaster at Alton Junction by the legislative committee which, it is believed, begins next week, the Big Four company is going over the ground and making a scrutinizing inquiry. Yesterday an investigation was held at Wann, at which were present General Manager Ramsey, Division Superintendent Wells, Trainmaster Neill, General Counsel John T. Dye, Local Counsel George F. McNulty and Local Agent L. T. Castle. Dick White, who was fireman on the wrecked engine, and all the employees at Wann were examined.

George Roloff, who passed into an unconscious stupor on the evening of the wreck, and was erroneously reported dead, passed away yesterday afternoon at his home in Upper Alton.

Charles Herman, of Alton Junction, is reported dying, and two more patients are said to be very low.

JUSTICE LAMAR'S SUCCESSOR.

The President Urged to Appoint One Before His Term Expires.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Vice President Morton and a number of Republican senators, including Platt, Manderson, Higgins and Dolph, called upon President Harrison yesterday and advised him to immediately appoint a successor to the late Justice Lamar. They pledged the Republicans of the senate to put the nomination through despite any filibustering tactics the Democrats might display.

It is said that the President listened with favor to the advice of his political friends, and indicated that if he made an appointment it would be from the south, and from the bench of the lower federal courts. Judge John S. Pardee, of Louisiana, is said to be the man. After the conference Senator Platt said: "The president will nominate a supreme court justice very soon—within a week, at least. I do not know who the nominee will be; but he will be confirmed beyond a doubt."

SKATING CONTEST.

The Hundred-Mile Record Beaten by Over Four Hours.

STAMFORD, Conn., Jan. 27.—A skating contest for the hundred-mile championship of America here yesterday resulted in smashing the world's long distance record. It was between Joe Donoghue, the amateur marvel, A. S. Franklin, of New York, and John Ennis, of Stamford. The ice was in splendid condition. An elliptical course 1032 feet long and 425 feet wide was laid out on the cove pond. It was surveyed by Engineer Pierce and measured just two laps to the mile. The temperature was a few degrees below the freezing point.

Donoghue finished in 7h. 11m. 33.1-5s. Franklin had made ninety and one-third miles, and Ennis eighty-five miles. The best previous record for one hundred miles was that of John Ennis, at Chicago, in 11h. 37m. 45s. Donoghue thus beats the record by 4h. 26m. 6.4-5s.

Divided Trade Assembly.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Jan. 27.—Matters in the Springfield trades and labor assembly are in a stew at present. One faction, headed by Jeff Creager, wants the organization to fight for the local political offices, including the postoffice. The other declares that going into politics will ruin them, and threatens to withdraw if the Creagerites carry out their plans. Both sides are determined.

Old Lady Burned to Death.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27.—Mrs. Sarah Johnson, aged fifty-one years, residing at 2519 Prairie avenue, was burned to death in her home yesterday evening. Mrs. Johnson was a paralytic, and when alone in the house in some unaccountable way her clothes caught fire and in her helpless condition was burned to death before discovered.

Western Educator Dead.

KEOKUK, Ia., Jan. 27.—Professor W. W. Jamieson, for twenty-five years superintendent of the Keokuk public schools, died here yesterday. He was one of the best known educators in the west.

Planing Mill Burned.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 27.—The big planing mill of Davidson & House, on Scranton avenue, was destroyed by fire Wednesday night. Loss, $33,000; covered by insurance.

ANTI-OPTION BILL.

Arguments on the Measure in the United States Senate.

AN UNUSUAL OCCURRENCE.

Senator Mills, of Texas, Sustained by Senator Hiscock, of New York—The Temperance Question Brought Up—The Proceedings of the House Devoted of Public Interest.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—There were not many senators in the chamber yesterday during the debate on the anti-option bill, but those who were present witnessed the remarkable circumstance of the states' rights Democrat, Mills, of Texas, having his argument against the constitutionality of the bill sustained by the stalwart Republican, Hiscock, of New York.

Mr. Mills declared his belief that the sentiment in favor of local self-government prevailed from New England to the Pacific ocean; and Mr. Hiscock asserted that there had been rarely presented to congress a measure in which less regard had been paid than was paid in the pending measure, either to the proprieties of legislation or to constitutional restrictions.

An effort to pass a bill creating a commission on the alcoholic liquor traffic gave Mr. Vest, Democrat, of Missouri, an opportunity of ventilating his views on such specimens of "crank legislation, and on those pseudo-philanthropists, who want to use the powers of congress to advance some special hobby, to which they are devoting their otherwise useless lives."

The session of the house was one devoid of any public interest. The sundry civil bill was granted the right of way, and while a few obstructions were placed on the track, none of them proved disastrous and the bill made fair progress. The item of appropriation for the survey of public lands was the chief object of attack; but Mr. Holman kept his men in line, and amendments looking to an increase of the appropriation for this purpose from $100,000 to $300,000, and $350,000, were cleared by the appropriations committee's co-catcher.

Without disposing of the bill the house adjourned.

SENATOR MARTIN'S ELECTION.

What is Thought in Washington About Its Legality.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—There is a diversity of opinion, not only among the senators, but among the members of the committee on privileges and elections, as to the exact standing of Mr. Martin, of Kansas, who is credited with being the senator-elect from that state to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Plumb, and now temporarily filled by Mr. Perkins by appointment of the governor.

The appearance of Mr. Martin at the senate chamber, bearing the certificate of the governor, may be looked for at any day, and may precipitate a prolonged and bitter election contest, similar to those of some years ago. The fact that every vote in the senate will be contested by the Democrats in furtherance of their intention to, if possible, organize the next senate, gives the case of Mr. Martin immediate importance.

It has escaped the mind of some of the members of the committee that the Kansas election was to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Plumb, whose term of office did not expire until the 4th of March, 1893, and that Mr. Perkins, the present incumbent, was only serving until the legislature should meet in regular session and choose his successor.

As soon as that successor has been regularly and legitimately elected, Mr. Perkins ceases to be United States senator. Under the peculiar conditions that exist in Kansas the probable action of the senate becomes an interesting matter for conjecture. In the meantime Mr. Perkins will hold to the seat to which he was appointed until his successor is elected and qualified.

Mr. Perkins is not, from all accounts, disposed to forego his seat in the senate without a struggle, and will not cease his resistance to a judgment of ouster until he and the Republican members of the senate are satisfied that the credentials of the senator from Kansas are good and that he was chosen by a body duly organized.

So it may happen that in the event of this sort of a contest, Mr. Perkins may remain in the senate until the close of the present congress. It is just possible too, that Mr. Martin may refrain from presenting himself until after the organization of the next senate.

A Strong Believer in Cronkhite.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 27.—C. V. McAdams of Williamsport, Ind., who is the attorney for Warren county, publishes a card in a morning paper in which he says of Cronkhite, the defaulting treasurer of Warren county, who is $60,000 short: "The press accounts have been grossly exaggerated. Cronkhite has invested the funds in real estate and expected to realize in time to close up his term of service with cash. Mr. Cronkhite is a man of sterling integrity and strict morals. He always spent his evenings at home with his wife and children. He is only in temporary retirement until the flurry blows over. No one will lose a cent."

A Brave Mate.

CAPE CHARLES, Va., Jan. 27.—The steamer "New York," of the Dominion line, with fifty passengers, broke her rudder yesterday, and became unmanageable. The mate of the steamer walked seven miles over the ice to summon assistance.

THEIR EYES ON THE ICE.

Washingtonians Trying to Solve the River Problem.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—A novel scow for breaking up the ice in the Potomac here has been designed for the commissioners by W. K. Stevens, a riverman of this city. It has sides eight feet high and the prow is shaped like an ordinary plow with iron facing. When pushed by a powerful tug it will plow under the ice, lifting the solid mass so that it will break of its own weight. The commissioners have taken the plan under advisement in case the Baltimore tugs prove unable to break the ice.

The steamer "Norfolk," one of the most powerful of the Washington and Norfolk propellers, has attempted to crush a chauluel through the ice, but after a few spurts it was brought to a dead standstill.

Harbor Master Sutton has reported to the commissioners that so long as the present state of the weather continues he was hopeful that a flood might be avoided.

The ice is softening on the lower river, while there has been no extensive thaw in the highlands. So, if the channel can be cleared before a general thaw, all the ice will pass off safely except for a possible jam at the long bridge. Cincinnati in Washington are taking an especially keen interest in the icy condition of the Potomac and the means which will be employed to clear the river, as they liken the condition here to that in the Ohio at home.

Guy S. Comly, of Ohio, has a suggestion to the District of Columbia commissioners in Thursday morning's Washington Post in which he says: "A few years ago the city of Toledo was threatened with a flood from an ice gorge, and it was considered necessary to break a channel through the ice to the lake. The heaviest rams in the harbor could not make any way through the ice. But a heavy tug was loaded in the stern, so as to raise her nose in the air, and when she made at the ice her bow ran on it and raised the craft half way out of the water. Its weight broke the ice under her, and she would then back off and make another dash. In this way she got down to the lake, five miles from Toledo. Could not the ice in the Potomac be broken in this way? The tug in the above-mentioned case was not materially damaged—at least was not put out of service."

MURDERED BY A MOB.

A Brave Officer Who Was Arresting a Tough Canuck.

CHATHAM, Ont., Jan. 27.—Officer Robert Rankin, of this city, was murdered yesterday afternoon by a gang of negro toughs, headed by George W. Freeman, at the latter's farm in Raleigh township. Freeman had been charged with criminal assault on a thirteen-year-old white girl named Jane Lezzert.

Major Rankin, town marshal, with Constable McDonald and Peter Dezelia, yesterday afternoon drove to the Freeman farm with the intention of arresting George. A number of colored toughs had gathered to aid Freeman, and as soon as the officers appeared opened fire on them and charged with axes.

Rankin fell at the first fire and his brains were beaten out by the brutes with their weapons. Dezelia and McDonald emptied their weapons and fled. McDonald received a bullet in the leg. A posse of constables and citizens was organized, and armed with Winchester rifles, returning to the farm they arrested five of the Freeman family without resistance, but George escaped. A lynch mob was narrowly averted when the prisoners were brought here.

Lynchers Looking for a Murderer.

NASHVILLE, Jan. 27.—H. F. Nichols, keeper of a livery stable at Dyersburg, was shot and instantly killed by Oz Butler, at this place, yesterday, because Nichols ordered Butler, who was smoking, out of the stable. Dyersburg is terribly excited over the affair and if the assassin is captured he will certainly be lynched. Lynching parties are now scouring the country for him. Nichols was formerly town marshal and was well-to-do.

A Demand for Cats.

MARTINSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 27.—One of the most singular stories comes from Mooresville. Cats are said to have become so numerous at Monrovia that they almost obliterate the profits of merchants by their ravages upon the stock, and the neighboring town of Mooresville has been scouring for stray cats to aid in their extermination.

Caused by Boys Teasing Him.

ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 27.—S. H. Culbertson, a grocer at Chandlersville, shot himself through the abdomen, the ball entering just above the hip, last evening. A number of boys had been teasing him, and in attempting to draw his revolver to frighten them it was discharged. He can not recover.

Missing Witness.

DELAWARE, O., Jan. 27.—The state's case against the Boggs brothers, the Van Tassels and Mahanays, indicted for riot, was continued to the April term of court on account of the absence of Lela Bennett, the principal witness, whose whereabouts are unknown to all but the parents.

Death of a Millionaire.

SAGINAW, Mich., Jan. 27.—Amasa Rust, one of pioneer lumbermen of the Saginaw valley, died here yesterday of catarrhal pneumonia, aged seventy-eight years. Mr. Rust's wealth is estimated at $1,000,000. He was interested in the lumber trade in the northwest.

Lumber Merchant Drops Dead.

LIBERTY, Ind., Jan. 27.—James Shepler, a prominent lumber merchant of this place, dropped dead with apoplexy at his home last evening.

NEW SENATORS.

Kansas Republicans Claim Martin's Election Illegal.

THEY MAKE A FORMAL PROTEST.

A Committee Will Be Sent with It to the United States Senate—The Democrats of Wisconsin Select Congressman John Mitchell for Senator—The Senatorial Contests in Other States.

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 27.—The Republicans still maintain that John Martin was not legally elected United States senator Wednesday. They are trying to effect a combination with the friends of Edward Carroll, of Leavenworth, by which the Republicans will vote for him whenever he can get enough friends to meet with the Republicans to constitute a legal quorum.

The Republicans claim that Ady, Republican, received the same number of legal votes for senator Wednesday as Martin did. This contention is founded on the claim that all of the Populist members are not entitled to their seats. The Republicans met in joint session yesterday morning and cast seventy-three votes for J. K. Hudson and one vote for Crane for state printer. The following resolutions were then adopted:

WHEREAS, One hundred and sixty members of this joint assembly holding legal certificates were present and either voting or demanding the right to vote at the joint assembly for the election of a United States senator Wednesday, Jan. 25, 1893; and

WHEREAS, Seventy-seven of them legally elected members were denied the right to vote in said joint assembly; and

WHEREAS, If these seventy-seven members of the joint assembly had been permitted to vote no one would have had a majority of all the votes cast in said joint assembly and that there would have been no election of a United States senator; be it

RESOLVED, By the joint assembly of members of the two houses here and now legally assembled, that there has been no election of a United States senator by the Kansas legislature this session; and

RESOLVED, That we enter our solemn protest against this revolutionary and illegal transaction and instruct the president of this joint assembly to appoint a committee to consist of three members of the house and two members of the senate to prepare a formal statement and emphatic protest to the senate of the United States, to be signed by the members of this assembly, protesting against the seating of John Martin as senator from this state. The joint assembly then adjourned without date.

Will Soon Be Senator Mitchell.

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 27.—On the thirty-first ballot taken in the Democratic caucus yesterday afternoon there was a break in the Knight ranks, and Congressman John Mitchell was elected United States senator. The vote was: Mitchell, 46; Bragg, 32; Knight, 1.

In Washington.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 27.—On the thirty-first ballot taken for United States senator yesterday Allen lost one vote, which went to Dunbar, a new nominee. Otherwise there was no change from the ballots taken on previous days. The thirty-second ballot resulted the same as the thirty-first.

In Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 27.—In the joint session of the legislature Powers received 54 votes, Paddock 30, Majors 19 and the rest scattering. An open breach has been made between Paddock and Thurston, and it is now believed that Senator Paddock's re-election is out of the question.

In North Dakota.

BISMARCK, Jan. 27.—One ballot was taken yesterday for United States senator with no choice. Benton received no votes, the Democrats and Populists voting for Walter Muir. Nothing of an exciting nature occurred during the balloting.

In Montana.

HELENA, Mon., Jan. 27.—The ballot for senator in joint assembly yesterday resulted: Sanders, 32; Clark, 23; Dixon, 11; Collins, 2. No choice.

In Wyoming.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 27.—The third ballot for United States senator was taken at noon yesterday but did not result in an election.

Found Dead in Bed.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 27.—William H. Young, aged seventy-seven, one of the pioneers of Columbus, was found dead in bed yesterday morning. Deceased had been ailing for some time with heart and kidney trouble, but was not considered seriously ill. He retired Wednesday night at his usual bed time in apparently good health.

Found Her Mother Dead.

KENTON, O., Jan. 27.—Mrs. Mary Potter, aged seventy, residing near Yellowton, awoke during the night and told her daughter she thought she was dying, and also where to find a large amount of money secreted in the house. The daughter ran to a neighbor's house for assistance, and when she got back her mother was dead.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Tennessee and Kentucky, fair, except rains or snow in western portion; decidedly colder; southerly winds, becoming variable.

THE G. O. P.'s hold on the United States Senate is slowly but surely giving way. The Democrats will run that branch of Congress after March 4.

THE Ripley Bee wants the name of the postoffice opposite that city changed from Howard to South Ripley. The BULLETIN seconds the motion. The suggestion is a good one.

THE Dever News has entered on its seventh year. Brother Curran is giving his readers one of the brightest and best papers on our exchange list, and he deserves the success he is meeting with.

IT is extremely bad taste for the Courier-Journal crowd to talk about the corporation influences in the Senate fight.
The worst corporation that ever got a grip on the State is the C.-J. "gang."

SENATOR PLATT, a Republican, describes the President-elect as a man "whose desire to take care of the best interests of the country would get the better of any desire to serve his friends." The same can't be said of President Harrison.

THE BULLETIN hasn't any but the kindliest feelings for Hon. James B. McCreary.
If he should be so fortunate as to succeed
Senator Carlisle he would make Kentucky a fearless, honest and able representative in the upper branch of Congress.

THE Republican Philadelphia North American "has a strong suspicion that the pension lists have been materially swollen by fraud, and that to-day there are hundreds, perhaps thousands, of both sexes drawing pensions to which they have no moral or legal right."

THE Campbell County grand jury is after the Newport prize fighters, and has indicted all who participated in the recent disgraceful doings down there. Now let the courts do their duty in the matter.
No city can afford to encourage the disgraceful amusements denominated prize fights.

CONNECTICUT chose a Democratic Governor last fall by 5,000 majority, but her legislative districts are so gerrymandered as to enable the Republicans to retain their control of that body. The result is General Hawley, a dyed-in-the-wool Republican, will represent that Democratic State in the United States Senate for another term.

Judge Tyler to be Married.

The engagement of Miss Fanny Mather, of Ironton, to Judge George P. Tyler, of Russellville, Brown County, is announced, the wedding to take place in March. Miss Mather is a daughter of Richard Mather, cashier of the Second National Bank of Ironton, and was formerly matron of the Episcopal Children's Home on Mount Auburn, Cincinnati. Judge Tyler is widely known throughout Ohio and a part of Kentucky, having been traveling for several years for a blank book publishing house.

James Lane Allen.

As pleasing in person as in his works, it is pleasant to note the grand reception which Mr.
Allen had at the Odeon. He told of the literature of the New South, and forgot to mention that he is one of its most charming exponents.
Gentle born and bred, graceful and true in all his work, he has earned a reputation that has covered this continent and has moved softly over the sea waves to the other hemisphere.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Mr. Allen will deliver a lecture at the court house next Monday night, and the people of Mayeville should accord him a warm welcome. The lecture will be given under the auspices of the ladies of the Church of the Nativity.

Wilfred Clarke.

Wilfred Clarke, the brilliant young comedian, played a week's engagement
this month at the Academy of Music, Washington City. During one of the performances, he met with a peculiar accident. The Washington Post says: "Having been ill and unable to eat anything during the day, Mr. Clarke sent for some oysters, which he ate between the acts. Unfortunately he swallowed a piece of shell adhering to one of the bivalves, which stuck in his throat, causing him excruciating pain. Nevertheless, in front of the curtain were many people who had paid to see him be funny, so the plucky young actor went through with the play, although his own feelings were far from being in accord with his actions."

Railway News.

The Railroad Gazette, in its issue of January 20, contains an interesting article on the prospects of railroad construction in 1893. In Kentucky only 121 miles are contemplated, but contracts have already been let and work is being done on about that much more. The extension of the Richmond, Nicholasville, Irvine and Beattyville from Irvine to Beattyville is promised. This is a distance of thirty-five miles. The grading was partly done before the road went into the hands of a receiver, when it was suspended, but arrangements are now being made to continue the work. The Altamont and Manchester will be extended from Altamont east to Manchester, nineteen miles. That extension is partly graded. Seven miles of the Owensboro, Falls of Rough and Green River, between Rough Creek and Adams' Fork,
is now nearly completed.

The Kentucky Midland's talked-of extension from Frankfort along the Kentucky river to a connection with the Louisville Southern, a distance of ten miles, is also mentioned as among the prospects. This road has also surveyed fifty miles from Paris to a point in Morgan County, passing through Owingsville.

The River.

The ice is still firm here. The river rose about an inch last night.

The little Tom Spurlock knocked an eight-foot hole in her bow while breaking the ice at Sciotoville.

The steamer Reliance and Bellevue have been cut out of their dangerous quarters at Portsmouth and taken to the mouth of the Scioto.

A special to the Cincinnati Post Thursday stated that the Kanawha was rising fast at headquarters, and the break-up is expected to-day or to-morrow.

Benjamin Pratt, civil engineer, took a measurement of the Ohio river at Portsmouth Saturday afternoon. From the curbing on the river front across to the highest point of the ferry landing on the Kentucky shore it is 1,700 feet, and from water's edge to water's edge 1,180 feet.

Convicted for Making Campaign As- essments.

In the United States Court at Owensboro, Eugene McAdams has been convicted of violating the civil service laws.
McAdams' violation was in receiving money in a Government office for political purposes. The definite evidence was that while a deputy in Collector Feland's office he received from John W. Lake $5 to aid the Republican party in an election in Christian and Hancock counties.

W. S. Feland, the Collector's son and Chief Deputy, is now on trial for the same offense, the court considering a motion to quash on the same grounds as in the McAdams case, with some additional facts in that the District Attorney urged the indictment of Feland, saying that not to do so would be drowning the kittens and letting the old cat go.

Got off Cheap

Says the Flemingsburg Times-Democrat:
"The Davis & Rankin Manufacturing Co., of Chicago, the same which made the nice little creamery deal with some of our citizens to the tune of $600, has brought suit in the Federal Court at Louisville for $3,712.29, for machinery
furnished, labor performed and prospective profits on a creamery which said citizens contracted for and then concluded they didn't want. It was to cost $4,000, and the D. & R. M. Co. claim they would have made $1,200 profit on the job.
Probably our folks got off cheap, after all.
Carlisle, Falmouth and other towns are yet to hear from."

The Legislature.

The House Printing Committee made a report Thursday on Mr. Pettit's resolution inquiring by what authority the Public Printer remains in office, and the printing is not let by contract as provided in the Constitution.

The committee say that the provision of the Constitution in regard to letting the contract has never been put into effect, a fault of the Legislature and not of the printer, and that he continues in office under the law. The report was adopted.
* Governor Brown vetoed the bill relating to the charter of Salyersville, Magoffin County.

ANOTHER HANDSOME CONTRIBUTION.

Colonel R. G. Lynn Sends a Check
For $25 to the Relief Committee.

THE BULLETIN is glad to make mention of another handsome contribution to the relief fund. It amounts to $25 and comes from Colonel R. G. Lynn, who is now at Hot Springs. Following is the letter accompanying the check:

HOT SPRINGS, ARK., January 25, 1893.
Editor Bulletin: Enclosed please find check for $25 for relief fund. I got your valuable little paper and saw where there was much suffering at home, and showed it to one whom I knew would send something. I do not feel able to give anything myself, as I was out of work almost all of the past summer, but I guess this check will answer for us both. Hoping you are as well as I am, I remain your friend, C. W. LUTTREY.

Our Mr. D. Hechinger will go east next week to complete our spring purchases.
Our friends who have not settled their January bills will greatly oblige us by doing so. We need the money.

Respectfully,
HECHINGER & CO.

The Price of Church Organs.

If you have any idea of buying a church organ after learning that they last for centuries, it will interest you to know that you can buy one in this city for any price between $500 and $80,000,
and that in the best factories an instrument that sells for $10,000 takes six months to build.—New York Times.

THE SENATORIAL CONTEST.

A Correspondent Predicts That Stone Will Retire From the Fight.

The Frankfort correspondent of the Lexington Press, in a special in yesterday's issue, says: "There is nothing very new to relate concerning the Senatorial fight. It is Lindsay against the field, and unless the field does something pretty quick it will be Lindsay first, and the others 'also ran.' The McCreary fight is a desperate one, and it means a fight to death. This is the third time McCreary has made a lunge after the Senatorial plum, and he knows if he fails this time it is good-bye forever for 'Jim' McCreary. It is an equally desperate tackle on the part of the Watterson-Courier-Journal forces to regain lost ground, and to show Mr. Cleveland that they still run the Democratic party of Kentucky.

"It is do or die this time. The state is a desperate one and the fight will be such a one as only a fight to the death by such powerful influences can be. They will contest the ground to the very last ditch and surrender only when the last spark of life has been beaten out. Already are the signs of the workings of this combination beginning to show themselves. Many letters to Representatives have come in from over the State endorsing McCreary and these tactics will be pursued with all the zeal that can be thrown into a great political game of chance.

"The Lindsay managers, secure in the strength of their position, do not feel the necessity of running around the State for Lindsay endorsements and mass meetings. They are content to sit down quietly, and with a skillful hand-keep their lines intact, knowing that by so doing victory is as sure as the sun rises and sets.

"The Louisville papers, at least the Courier-Journal, Times and Post, are working desperately to bolster up the McCreary end of the string, and to create a break from the Lindsay columns. Misleading reports are sent out from Frankfort in regard to the relative strength of the candidates, and declaring that McCreary is steadily growing stronger and that Lindsay's lines are ready to fall to pieces.

"An impartial survey of the field, however, does not substantiate such a statement. Several of the McCreary and Stone men readily admit their belief that Lindsay will win. They concede him forty-five votes now, and do not deny that he can easily get the other five as soon as Stone and McCreary drop out. The Lindsay people are thoroughly confident, and the Frankfort man's headquarters is a continual scene of good cheer.

"There is a strong tip out that Stone will not go into the caucus, and I now make a prediction to that effect. He can gain nothing by holding on, and as he can not possibly command over twenty votes he would lose much by showing his hand. He has placed himself in line for future preferment, and this is as much as he could have hoped to accomplish. And if Stone does withdraw Lindsay will receive over sixty votes on the first ballot."

THE GILBERT ISLANDS.
Advices Say the Natives Are High for Revolt Against the British.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Captain Luttrell, who knows more about the inside history of the British seizure of the Gilbert islands last summer than any other American, will sail Wednesday for Butaritari, on the trading bark Helen W. Almy. He fears his representatives on the islands have had a hard time, as private letters received by way of Auckland show the natives are ripe for such an outbreak against British aggression as the Samoans made several years ago against the domineering Germans.

Luttrell told some facts which have not yet been printed. He says: "I happened to be a guest on the British cruiser Royalist just before the vessel reached Butaritari, the capital of the Gilbert islands. I was put ashore. The next time I saw Captain Davis, the commander of the Royalist, he marched up to the king's house, and in the same tone he would use in ordering a common sailor around, he told the king the islands had been annexed by England, and if he did not like it they could easily find another king who would."

"When the king turned to me for advice, Davis said: 'That man is nothing but an American and a trader.' In every way he expressed his contempt for Americans, who he said would do anything for money, and he referred in a sneering way to our government's failure to punish any insult to its flag or its subjects in the South seas. Every American on the islands was boiling with anger over Davis' speech except our consul at Butaritari. This official is Adolph Ricks, an Austrian by birth, and instead of helping the king he furnished Captain Davis information that strengthened the English cause."

"When I left the islands a petition, signed by the king and addressed to President Harrison, was given me to forward. When I learned on the voyage that some of the king's worst enemies had drafted this petition it seemed to me poor policy to present it. Their object, in my opinion, was to have the petition sent to England and then use this as a pretext for deposing the king and deporting him to another island, as the Germans did with old Malletoa of Samoa. The English want to put the king's son in power, as he is entirely under the influence of British tradesmen and statesmen. Whatever may happen, I think our government should send a war vessel to the Gilberts to show that Americans have some claim to respect in the South seas."

LYNCHING PARTY AFTER HIM.

Wild Bill Johnson, a Desperado, Flying for His Life.

FRUITA, Colo., Jan. 27.—Wild Bill Johnson, a desperado from the Texas Panhandle and the Indian Territory, is flying down the Colorado-Utah line for the San Juan river and Colorado canon, pursued by a lynching party of cowboys, who will not trouble the authorities with him if they get him.

Several days ago Johnson was amassing himself at West Water, Utah, making a couple of tenderfoot dance by shooting the heels off their boots. Bert Terwilliger, a merehand, came up and remonstrated. Johnson shot him dead, stood off the crowd, and rode across the Colorado line to Fruita. Here he swung his gun around freely, and at last ran foul of a lawyer named Brennan, whom he chased twenty miles on horseback.

Brennan some how got into a box canon and Johnson, after shooting at him from the cliffs for a while, went away and left him there. Brennan was unable to find a way out and wandered around for three days, when he was found by a rescuing party nearly starved and frozen. The indignation at this outrage was so great that a party was organized in Fruita and West Water and has gone after Johnson.

Death in a Depot.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Jan. 27.—An unknown man, supposed, by papers found on his person, to be O. P. Salles, a railroad ticket speculator, dropped dead at the Union depot yesterday. He came in from the south on the Evansville and Terre Haute train, and upon leaving the train fell dead in the depot. The deceased is between fifty and sixty years of age. Letters found on him indicate that he has a daughter living at 75 1-2 Washington street, Indianapolis.

Rock Falls on a Train.

LOUISA, Ky., Jan. 27.—As the west-bound passenger train on the Ohio and Big Sandy was nearing Gallup's station, nine miles east of here, yesterday, a rock as large as a freight car fell on the track just in front of the locomotive, which struck it. The engine was considerably damaged, and Rol Quillan, a brakeman, who was on the platform, was thrown off and dangerously hurt. Express Messenger Mull was badly injured by a trunk striking him.

Carnegie Arrives in Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 27.—Andrew Carnegie, accompanied by his wife, private secretary and Horey Phipps, Jr., arrived at Pittsburgh at 9:45 o'clock last night. They were met at Union station by H. C. Frick and son. Mr. Carnegie declined to converse with reporters. Carriages were in waiting and conveyed the party to the residence of Mr. Frick, in the East End.

A Brewery Assigns.

SEDALIA, Mo., Jan. 27.—A majority of the stockholders of the Sedalia Brewing association have applied for receivers and secured the appointment of J. C. Thompson and G. E. Longan, who will operate the brewery for the benefit of interested parties. Assets and liabilities unknown, but the action was caused by a pressing debt of $25,000.

Killed His Friend with a Club.

KINGWOOD, W. Va., Jan. 27.—In Preston county Tuesday night Alden Strauer hit Albert Frickey over the head with a club, crushing his skull. Death resulted in three hours. The two were at the residence of Leroy Guthrie, six miles southwest of Brandonville, this county. Strauer and Frickey were both drunk, and Frickey made a lunge at Strauer with a dirk knife. Both were under twenty years of age and were fast friends until they got on this spree. Strauer has a family. He gave himself up, and was lodged in jail.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Dr. Johnston visited Mr. Blaine at 9:30 o'clock last night and remained at his bedside about an hour. When he left he said Mr. Blaine did not look so well or seem so well as he had during the past few days. By this statement the doctor did not wish to convey the impression that Mr. Blaine had suffered a relapse or that there was any decided change for the worse. Dr. Johnston said he would not return during the night unless summoned, and he did not think there would be any necessity for his presence.

Three Workmen Killed.

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 27.—While a party of workmen were crossing the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railroad track to board a work train at Landlith, near this city yesterday morning, a freight train struck three of them, instantly killing John W. Batson and S. L. Vieni, and fatally injuring John Johnson. The dead and wounded were brought to this city.

Triple Shooting.

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 27.—A triple shooting occurred here yesterday. A stranger, whose name is supposed to be Charles Burg, called at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Whipple, variety performers, and calling them to the door shot both of them, and then placed the pistol to his mouth and blew his own brains out. No cause can be assigned for the tragedy.

Fighting at a Revival.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 27.—At a Methodist revival eight miles from here last night, James Simons and John Snow became involved in a quarrel and fought with knives. Both received severe wounds. Mrs. Simons joined in the fray, and was badly cut, as was another woman of the same family. George Snow, a son, received a mortal wound.

Negroes Escape From Jail.

UNION CITY, Tenn., Jan. 27.—At 9 o'clock last night ten negroes escaped from jail by wrenching a cage door from its hinges and using it in breaking a hole through the corridor. They then called to the colored porter to replenish the fire and, upon opening the jail door, ran out, making their escape. No captures have been made.
